- The concept is illustrated through visual elements.

Visual elements:

Energy

The focus is on a bright background that associates with positive energy and healthy skin.

Background

All the videos I used are about the best at-home facials. What does that mean? It means the videos were made at home, and people in the videos are using papaya scrub and aloe vera mask in the comfort of their homes.

Relaxation

The inspiration for the videos I used comes from people applying the mask while doing chill activities like reading a book or tidying up their place, creating a cozy atmosphere.

Interesting/Useful:

In the first half of the videos, I pointed out to people the benefits they'll get by using these two products together.

Given my sales skills, I believe it's essential to first explain how using these products will contribute to them.

Instructions:

I used videos that demonstrate how to prepare and use the facial scrub, as well as how to apply the face mask, especially for users encountering it for the first time.

Recommended Products:

Slides with just the recommended products, nothing else, so you can concentrate on them!

Results

You'll see someone washing their face with water. Looks like they're loving the recommended products!
